THE BUGLE
OF OPPORTUNITY

INSPIRED BY A YOUTHFUL GOVERNOR, THE YOUNG MEN OF VIRGINIA ARE TAKING ADVANTAGE OF POSSIBILITIES AND MAKING GREAT STRIDES IN AGRICULTURE, ENGINEERING, COMMERCE AND SCIENCE. MANY OF THIS GROUP CAN SAY: "I RECEIVED MY TRAINING AT V. P. I. AND STILL GREATER OPPORTUNITIES ARE KNOCKING AT THE DOOR OF EACH MEMBER OF THE CLASS OF '29!"

THE ANNUAL PUBLICATION OF THE CADET REGIMENT OF THE VIRGINIA POLYTECHNIC INSTITUTE

VOLUME THIRTY-FIVE

ASSEMBLED BY THE CLASS OF NINETEEN TWENTY-NINE BLACKSBURG, VIRGINIA
INDUSTRIAL VIRGINIA

Millions of dollars are being spent annually in Virginia in manufacture and commerce. Being north of the South and south of the North, with power at her back, foot, and the sea and the world at her front, this Commonwealth is growing rapidly with industrial enterprises. Virginia needs technically trained men.
FOREWORD

As the Class of '29 passes out the Alumni Gateway for the last time,
it will leave behind scenes of countless incidents - memorable and pleasant - and break the physical ties of College friendships to enter a new life and a new world. - To keep fresh the memories of friends, haunts and happenings and to show
Virginia's progress with the numerous opportunities in her limits awaiting the V. P. I. Graduate are the aims of the 1929 Bugle.
DEVELOPERS OF VIRGINIA

Far greater from a standpoint of value and good to mankind, than a diamond mine, is the opportunity in Virginia for the development of its farm land. Diversified farming will raise acreage value three and four fold. Truly, the Tech graduate has an opportunity to go forth and develop Virginia as never before!
DEDICATION

NEW DOMINION
THE OLD DOMINION IS FAST BECOMING A NEW DOMINION IN THIS ERA OF PROGRESS. NO LONGER IS VIRGINIA RESTING UPON THE LAURELS OF BYGONE DAYS; SHE IS CONSCIOUS OF THE FUTURE. TO THIS NEW DOMINION—THE VIRGINIA OF THE FUTURE—THE STATE OF OPPORTUNITY, THIS THE 1929 BUGLE IS DEDICATED.
The Virginia Capitol and seat of the Confederate Government during the War Between the States is as important in the political progress of the state as is V. P. I. in the industrial, commercial and agricultural advancement being made by this Commonwealth.

The College
His Excellency Harry Flood Byrd
Governor of the Commonwealth of Virginia
1926-1930
FROM publisher of a struggling country newspaper to the governorship of the state is a long jump. Harry Flood Byrd, the present leader of Virginia's progress and development accomplished this feat in twenty years time. He saw his opportunity, overcame each obstacle as it confronted him and finally found himself in the Governor's mansion.

Under his administration, Virginia has made greater progress than ever before in the history of the state. Hundreds of miles of roads have been completed and now asphalt ribbons wend their way from the coast to the mountains and from Maryland to Tennessee and North Carolina. Industries are springing up over night; millions of dollars are being invested in Virginia industrially.

The institutions of higher education in the state have been placed on a higher level and today Virginia ranks high in the United States from an educational standpoint.

Governmental reforms have been inaugurated under Governor Byrd's administration whereby our political system has been simplified and at the same time made more efficient.

The leaders of yesteryears have stepped aside for the youths of today. Our governor typifies youth in all its forms. He is the spirit of youth personified. He heard Virginia's call and answered it. And it is with this in mind that we dedicate this page of the 1929 Bugle to His Excellency Governor Harry Flood Byrd.
Dr. Julian Ashby Burruss, ’98
President of the Virginia Polytechnic Institute
1919-1929
IT remained for an alumnus of V. P. I. to take the helm of the Institute under control to place it before the state and the nation as one of the best of technical colleges. When Dr. Julian A. Burruss became president of the college ten years ago he had visions of a greater V. P. I. He saw the need of a physical plant capable of caring for all the requirements that the state and nation demanded of a college of this type.

Architects drew plans for the greater V. P. I. and now ten years later, Dr. Burruss' vision has in part become a reality. Constant additions and improvements are being made to the physical plant of the college. Daily, V. P. I. is being better equipped to meet the needs of Virginia.

Each succeeding year has seen the academic standards of the college raised. Courses are being added each year until now over four hundred are listed in the catalog, seventy-eight of which were added during the present session.

Dr. Burruss has done more than any other one man to better fit V. P. I. to carry out its motto to Virginia and to the nation, "Ut Prosim."

The Bugle rejoices and celebrates with Dr. Burruss over his achievements.

Power. Virginia has power in all its forms, but her greatest potential power is stored up in the class rooms and on the athletic fields of the colleges of the state. F. P. I. with a high percentage of Virginia students represents the power of human intelligence and skill.

Senior Class History

Our class has assembled from all parts of the state and country. Some of us experienced, others just trying our wings, away from the nest for the first time. Now, after four years we have attained a level. We are all on an equal footing. From now on it all depends on the man.

Four long years we have spent together. Each succeeding year has brought more work, more temptations and more responsibilities. Naturally there has been some monotony and several disagreeable occurrences. At all times we have been headed toward one goal—graduation.

Naturally our first year was rather a shock. The barracks were probably not what we expected, since they were so different from anything we had previously experienced. Our responsibilities were few; our duties numerous. Work and continuous work was our lot. But, football, the trips, dances and finally Christmas gave us something to look forward to. Sails down, rats. We beat V. M. I. on Thanksgiving Day. Exams came on us in a flash. Our first set at V. P. I. was over. Then the holiday.

Christmas went by like a flash. We came back to work and play—with emphasis on the work. Winter sports, basket-ball, wrestling and the advent of boxing on the campus. The winter passed rapidly and our second set of exams came and went.

Spring quarter at last. On the last lap now. Baseball and track with occasional dances kept us amused. Sophomores continued to keep us busy and in between times we did some studying.

Finals at last. Our first year is almost over. Parades and more parades! At last we see the Class of '26 get their degrees. And immediately afterwards hear the appointments.

After an all too short summer, we are back at school. Sophomores now—and corporals. Our responsibility has increased a little—also our work. The faculty and the two upper classes almost ruined us, but we successfully passed it on to the Rats. Just as all of our predecessors, we made ourselves thoroughly disagreeable. Football games and trips helped to relieve the monotony. Thanksgiving came, and we really beat V. M. I. Peake looked great running through that V. M. I. team. Exams and then Christmas. It seemed too bad, but with every set of exams, a few faces disappeared from our class.

After a pleasant visit home, we returned for some more grind. The work became harder, life a little tedious, so we took that out on the Rats too. After a fairly successful basket-ball season, a championship wrestling team, and a promising boxing team, we felt a little better. Spring and then June came none too quickly.
Again our responsibilities increased. However, our work while harder was easier to endure because of the fact that we were learning to study properly, to know our instructors, to appreciate their efforts, and try harder. We more or less looked on, enjoyed ourselves thoroughly, worked hard, and went through almost unscathed so far as stray sheep were concerned. Our rings arrived. Of course, we were very proud of them.

Winter came and spring followed in the usual manner. Finals came for a third time. Another class is leaving and we are nearing the status of Seniors.

Camp! So this is the Army? How are you, General? Six weeks of this place? Oh Hell! It was hot! there was work to be done, and a little session of griping about those guys from the Point. Some good and others not so good. Well, it is all in a life time. We soon got on to things and learned to work without complaining. The summer passed before we knew it and we went home for a short time.

September again, and we are Seniors. Why can’t it cool off just a little so we won’t perspire wearing these capes? Aren’t they good looking? “Is mine long enough?” A million similar questions asked a thousand times. This year we did everything in style. No more riding the day coach on trips—a Pullman for us. Miniatures came, and somehow seemed to disappear from the campus very rapidly. Our responsibilities increased a lot this year. I hope we assumed this fairly well, but we certainly could have done better. Our skippers, as a whole, looked lots better and behaved more as Seniors should, perhaps. We lost to V. M. I. this year. Touched wasn’t it? But they certainly had a fine team, and outplayed us.

Christmas came and went, we are on the last lap now. Our last set of exams is taken, and we go home for Senior week. Almost everyone has a job. Finals is here. All our parents and friends are here to see the last of our cadet life. Dances, Baccalaureate Sunday, and then Commencement. It is all over, and we part. Friendships of four long years broken. Some never to be renewed again.

The pony express has passed into history. For four years we have sat side by side. Undoubtedly, we have received a great deal more from the State of Virginia than we can ever repay. We sincerely hope that our state has not made a bad investment and that we will not be so ungrateful as to forget her in the future. We hope that we have raised the standards some, and that those who take our places will do even more to make V. P. I. a finer, better place for the boys of Virginia to grow into manhood.

Our Academic Sun has set—but over the horizon—is the Dawn of Tomorrow.

CLASS OFFICERS ~ JUNIORS
Junior Class History

Three short years ago the class of 1930 began its eventful history at V. P. I. Eventful and different was the history of the class the time the first innocent rat boarded the Huckleberry at Christiansburg and his slightly more intelligent brother rat boarded the taxi.

Rat year. Experiences of chagrin and abusement. Nine months of hell, the like of which, we pride ourselves, was never and has never since been experienced at V. P. I. But even in our rat year we marked up accomplishments. There was our first class meeting, closed with a "hokie" for '30, and followed by leapfrogging, trunk jumping, shouting and yelling all the way from the mess hall back to the quadrangle. But there were class meetings and class meetings. The second time was different. Wise now in the ways of the Sophomores we laid our plans beforehand. The long Sophomore receiving line begged us to stay and aid in the social event of the day, but we had other plans. There was hell to be raised down town, and five hundred rats couldn't do right and abide by Sophomore commands. Of course we paid for it far, far into the night and for weeks after, but it was worth it.

Then there was the rat parade on the day of our first game with Roanoke College. Our modesty was shocked, perhaps, when we noticed designs so attractively painted on our er-aht unclothed bodies, but our morals stood the strain and we came through nobly.

We met only brother rats in the annual snow battle. Some few unhappy upperclassmen were pressed in and sad was their fate. Now and then inter-battalion rivalry flared up as some rat took a terrific mailing in the snow, but most of our snow matches were set ups.

The long, long rat year finally came to a close. We were run out of town in the memorable final Friday night by the Sophomores, but they did not have to do much chasing. And we retaliated by attempting to run everybody else out of Roanoke and the Hotel Shenandoah. A wild orgy, and back to Blacksburg to recuperate for the finals. Commencement came, and five hundred rats broke their unholy necks getting back to the quadrangle to walk around unbraced and with their hats on in the barracks.

Then we were Sophomores, and we knew it. So did the rats. Strange to say it didn't seem to make much difference to the Juniors and Seniors. But our Sophomore year was an eventful one. Perhaps we weren't as rough on rats as our predecessors, but reform had already set in. The pins were received, and the accompanying sticks for excess jewelry. Four hundred pledges were sworn to the effect that no one would ever wear our individual class pin. The Sophomore banquet was comparatively peaceful. No one was killed.

So the Junior year rolled around. Trips to Roanoke and Norfolk, and a side trip to Lexington for the Washington and Lee game enlivened the long pull that leads up to the Christmas holidays. After the holidays came the rings. Again taking the lead the Juniors put off the wearing of their rings until March 1, a month later than the class of the preceding year.

Coming down the final stretch class politics assumed our attentions. As never before interest was stirred up in student politics. But it finally settled. Then came the Junior-Senior prom, and finals with the paletot and cape and gold band just over the horizon.

Virginia has contributed her share to every military undertaking the nation has ever launched. Hampton Roads has long been called the home of the United States Fleet. Army posts are numerous in the state and V. P. I. is playing her part in the defense program through the military training at the Institute. For the last five years V. P. I. has been one of the few distinguished military colleges of the country.

ALL-SOUTHERN HALFBACK
Foreword

In presenting the athletic history of V. P. I., it is not our purpose to emphasize our victories, but rather to recognize both defeat and victory in the true spirit of sportsmanship. The matter of who wins and who loses goes down as only another incident of athletic history, and in time it is forgotten, but the principles and the moral code of sportsmanship ever remain as the spirit and will of man among men.

And now, a tribute to those with great determination and little talent, who have moulded themselves into greatness by the character of their work. The result of their toil has been a light and guidance to strengthen the will of others.

TECH-ROANOKE COLLEGE

Displaying an unusual brand of football for an opening game, the Gobblers easily swept Roanoke College aside with a 34-7 victory.

It was just a case of too much offense for the Maroons, although they put up their usual scrappy game, and netted eleven first downs by a splendid aerial attack. In the final minutes of play they turned a well-executed pass into a touchdown for their lone score.

TECH-HAMPTON-SYDNEY

With the "Three Grenadiers" and Mitt Owens, flashy sophomore fullback, dealing a smashing offensive attack, Tech scored her second victory of the season with a 33-7 win over the Hampden-Sidney Tigers.

Experience and a decided advantage in weight enabled the Gobbler backs to gain almost at will, registering twenty first downs. The brilliant defensive play of Captain Bailey in the line featured the game.

Even against odds, Willis, visiting halfback, reaped his share of the honors when he made a beautiful 90-yard run through the whole Tech team in the second quarter for a touchdown.

TECH-COLGATE

The Gobbler were handed their first defeat of the season, 35-14, in Hamilton, N. Y., by Colgate's big Maroon team.
A punt blocked by Hotchkiss gave Tech her first score, and at the half held the lead, 7-6. A long pass from Mattox to Spear gave the Gobblers another touchdown late in the third period.

Colgate seemed well satisfied to even old scores after suffering a 6-0 defeat at the Gobblers' hands last year.

TECH-U. OF NORTH CAROLINA

In the first Conference game of the season Tech nosed out the U. of North Carolina, 16-14, the margin of victory being a field goal kicked by Hooper, Gobbler quarterback, in the first quarter. The lead changed hands five times during the game.

Captain Bailey and Hotchkiss on the defense, and Peake on the offense proved to be...

the thorns in Carolina's side. Peake scored both of Tech's touchdowns by his beautiful running.

TECH-KING COLLEGE

While the regulars warmed the bench and took a much needed rest October 27, the Gobblers second string ran roughshod over King College, 54-0.

Owens, sophomore fullback, and Mattox led the running attack for the Gobblers, accounting for thirty-five points and gaining 250 yards during the time they were in the game.

TECH-MARYLAND

The second Conference game of the season was played in a sea of mud. The whole Cadet Corps journeyed to Norfolk to see the Gobblers win from Maryland, 9-6. As in the first Conference game, the margin of victory proved to be another field goal from Hooper’s toe.

TECH-U. OF VIRGINIA

November 10th, a colorful and enthusiastic crowd of football fans braved a mild snow storm to see Virginia give way to Tech’s famous Pony Express 20-0. Tech was rated to lose by seven points, but the Gobblers completely overcame the vaunted Cavalier attack and rendered Coach “Greasy” Neale’s famous bag of tricks useless.

Peake, flashy Tech back, rose from the injured list and entered the fray eight minutes, long enough to score two touchdowns.

HARRY SPEAR

RULE

Sloan was the outstanding Cavalier player and his accurate passes kept the Gobblers constantly on edge.

TECH-WASHINGTON AND LEE

By virtue of a 13-7 victory over Washington and Lee the Gobblers kept in the race for Southern Conference honors.

The Generals offered the stiffest opposition and the most versatile attack the Techmen had met up to this time. Tech led 6-0 at the end of the half, but the Generals with a mixed attack of passes and end runs forged ahead late in the third quarter.

Taking the ball on the next kickoff the Gobblers marched sixty yards for the winning score, and the game ended with the ball in their possession in midfield.
TECH-V. M. I.

It took a great V. M. I. team to defeat the Gobblers 16-6 on Thanksgiving Day. It was the most desperately waged battle of the season with the state title at stake.

The half ended 7-6 favor of V. M. I. and with the opening of the third period the Keydets let loose an attack which the Gobblers could not stop. Tech lost two opportunities to score when the Keydet line held inside the five yard line.

Despite defeat, Frank Peake established himself as one of the greatest backs in the Old Dominion, and he shared honors for the day with Captain Bailey. For V. M. I., Captain Barnes and Harner proved the outstanding stars.

OPENING the season on their home ground Tech lost to Colgate's big Maroon team, 10-4 and 11-10. Despite the fact that Coach Kircher had, with a few exceptions, an unexperienced team, they gave a good account of themselves against Colgate's heavy hitting team.

Playing again on home territory the Gobblers lost a slow game to Davidson, 10-5. Mattox and Spangler starred at bat with home runs.

In the next game Paige Ferebee held the W. and L. Generals helpless to give Tech her first Conference victory by a 3-3 score. Mattox again came through with a circuit swat for the feature of the game.

Rain prevented Tech and U. of North Carolina from crossing bats in the next Conference game.
The Gobblers received a severe jolt at the hands of the University of Virginia in Charlottesville. The Cavaliers collected a total of 19 hits and 20 runs while Tech was getting 3 runs. Tomko's fielding was the feature of the otherwise slow contest.

Virginia again defeated V. P. I. 6-0 after a beautiful pitchers battle for seven innings. Miscues by the Gobblers accounted for the most of Virginia's tallies.

Emory and Henry was held to four scattered hits in the next by "Windy" Watkins and Tech won 5-1. Besides giving a nice exhibition of box work, Watkins drove out three hits, scored two runs, and fanned seven batters.

War clubs were handled wickedly against N. C. State, V. P. I. pounding six pitchers for 20 hits and a 19-10 victory. Mattox, Coffey, Rice, Spangler, and Tomko hanged out home runs, with Coffey getting two and a pair singles in five trips to the plate. Kidd and Mayfield led the Tarheel attack.
Watkins gave another stellar performance of mound duty when he held V. M. I. to four hits, while the Gobblers were collecting eleven to win 6-2. Watkins and Grizzard collected circuit swats.

The Generals took the next game from Tech 6-4. The splendid pitching of Folliard, General ace, accounted for the Gobbler's defeat.

A rally in the eighth inning gave V. M. I. a 10-7 victory over the Techmen in their last Conference game. The game was marked by heavy hitting on the part of both teams.

By graduation the squad lost Captain Alexander, Watkins, Spangler and Grizzard. These gaps are to be filled from the horde of sophomore candidates from last year's freshman team.

Letters were awarded to Captain Alexander, Mattos, Captain-elect Spangler, Rule, Tomko, Logan, Rice, Coffey, Ferebee, Watkins, Grizzard, Stark, Duy and Dashiell. Duy and Dashiell were varsity and freshman managers.

WILLIAM AND MARY

The Gobbler trackmen journeyed to eastern Virginia to open the season with a bang against the William and Mary Indians on the Williamsburg war path and defeat their host 80 to 46. The Indians nosed into three first places while the Teclmen garnered the remaining eleven. A slow track kept the time of the running events high, but Justis of the Indians established a new South Atlantic record in the meet when he threw the javelin 181 feet 7 inches.

CAROLINA STATE AND CLEMSON

Shorty Lund journeyed with his mates south to enter the first triangular meet of the year and break his previous Southern Conference mark by hurling the discus 140 feet 4 inches. Inspired by the big boy's feat, the other Gobblers came through in fine style to win the meet by taking nine first places for a total of 72 points. Captain Hutchinson broke the tape in both the 440 and 880 dashes while Shanklin duplicated this feat in the century and 220 yard dash.
WASHINGTON AND LEE

Three records fell under the feet of two Gobbler artists and under the arm of a third when the Generals journeyed to Blacksburg to return home smarting under a defeat of 87½ to 38½. The Techmen captured 12 first places.

Buddy Weld proved to be another Mercury when he broke the school record for the high hurdles by topping the timbers in 15.5 seconds lowering the mark by 3-10 of a second previously held by Winne Legge since 1912.

Howard Avery equalled the record when he took first place in the low hurdle event in 25.2 seconds. Ollie Shell lowered the javelin record by 1 foot 4½ inches when he tossed it 173 feet 1½ inches.

And last but not least was the lightning finish made by Captain Hutchinson in the 880 to break the tape ahead of Baacks to lower the half mile record by 2.6 seconds. Hutch made the two laps in 1 minute 58.6 seconds.
V. M. I.

Making his last appearance in a V. P. I. uniform, Shorty Lund excelled all his previous efforts by breaking his own Conference record for the second time in one season by hurling the discus 145 feet 10 inches. While Shorty was entertaining the fans with his prowess, the other Gobblers strutted their stuff by capturing nine more first places to put the Gobblers in the van of a 69 to 57 score.

Three Keydet marks were lowered as Walker broke the tape ahead of Weld in the hurdles to set a new record. Then Read climbed the pole and vaulted 11 feet 6 inches for a new Institute record and Winters finishing second to Penn of Tech in the two mile event covered the distance in 10 minutes 16.6 seconds.

Captain Hutchinson and Peake were high scorers for the meet with ten points each while Walker of V. M. I. was a close second with nine and one-third points to his credit.

The port of Hampton Roads is growing yearly, teeming with activities. Millions of tons of exports and imports pass through this port annually. Activities at Tech are not carried on from a commercial standpoint, but they too are increasing as the years pass, becoming more important in the undergraduate's life.

What could be more typical than a Virginia darky perched upon a pile of tobacco playing a guitar? Humor is therein personified. While Virginia is looking to the future Virginians always have time for the pleasant and amoy diversions of life.

And How——!!!

Humor
Dedication

This section—the section which for years has formed no small portion of the mental existence of the feebleminded, whose weakened powers will not allow them to indulge themselves in any problem deeper than attempting to figure out a joke, or some ingenious means of pestering freshmen—must be dedicated. For days we pored together over such great works as Rabelais, Capt. Billie's Whizz Bang, Maupassant, Balzac, and The Eye Opener, in a vain attempt to find some person or persons suitable to dedicate this great work to. Then, pausing for a moment in our great work, we happened to look out of the window, and "saw through our window pane, a castle in Spain, right in Our Own Backyard." What we had spent days looking everywhere for—those valiant souls who for their great love of V. P. I., have taken five, six, and even seven years to accomplish what their classmates have completed two or three years ago. They could not bear the thought of leaving the dear old school after so short a time as four years and so they have remained on for what seems an indefinite length of time honoring and gracing this beautiful campus with their presence, and enlivening the classrooms with their snores. Imagine our shame, when we realized what we had done; we had come within an ace of forgetting completely these beloved schoolmates of ours who four years ago were so kind in remembering us when they wanted an errand done or when they craved amusement. So with all due apologies for our negligence we lovingly dedicate the rest of this book (advertisements and all) to "Ben" Moomaw, "Crip" Spangler, "Speck" Anderson, "Dick" Pearce, "Pop" Beamon, "Fitz" Bartol, "Al" Grizzard, "Coles" Huggins, Scrogham, "Black-bottom" Whitehead, "Zeke" Wilson, "Dick" Esleek, "Sleepy" Graham, Hutcheson, "Beef" Kelsey, and "Jimmy" Peyton.
It was Johnny's first day in school. He hadn't been there more than two hours when he vigorously waved his hand to attract the teacher's attention.

"Yes, Willie?"

"I don't want to stay here no more."

"But, Willie you can't leave until school is over."

"Then dammit let me talk to my mommer on the phone."

The teacher called Willie's mother. Says Willie:

"Mommer?"

"Yes, precious, what's the matter?"

"You'd better come and get me."

"Why, darling?"

"Well, you'd better if you don't want me to grow up to be a damn bead stringer."

Boss: "Where in the blazes are you two worthless niggers going?"

Mose: "We're working, boss. We're carrying dis heah plank up to the mill."

Boss: "Plank! I don't see any plank."

Mose: "Well for de Lawd's sake! Sam, ef we ain't gone an' clean forgot de plank?"

"Where was your little brother last week?"

"Oh, he was lost and we never thought about looking for him in the bath room until yesterday — then we found him hiding behind dad's toothbrush."

"I'll be damned," said the river as work was begun on the new power plant.

Liza went into a drug store and asked for a penny's worth of insect powder.

Clerk: "Why, Lady, that isn't enough to wrap."

Liza: "I ain't asked you to wrap it. Just blow some down my back."
It isn't every girl that needs a college education, some learn to neck in high school.

THE RETURN OF CASEY

And somewhere men are laughing
And somewhere children shout
But there is no joy in Mudville
Mighty Casey had struck out.

But Casey had another chance
When football season came
He donned his jersey, shoes and pants
To renew his vanished fame.

In early tilts with slender teams
He was the star indeed
The scribes used paper by the reams
To laud his skill and speed.

And when the big game came at last
The odds were quite enough
The fans knew Casey's football past
They knew he'd do his stuff.

One fleeting minute to be played
They're on the twelve-yard line
Seven-six the score board said
Can Casey come from behind?

Casey went back for a wide end run
The final desperate hope
His last attempt before the gun
'Ere he ran out of rope.

He got away and then cut in
And raced straight down the side
Across the goal 'mid cheering din
His touchdown turned the tide.

The linesman stood and waved his hand
And pointed to the ground
The players turned at his command
And quickly gathered 'round.

Ah, somewhere stars are lauded
Their fame the headlines shout
But one is not applauded
Mighty Casey had run out.

Cinderella: "Good Godmother, must I leave the ball at twelve?"
The Good Fairy: "You'll not go at all if you don't stop swearing."
Snappy Sam: "How come Hi's got a bull hitched to this plow?"

Ready Ruby: "Dunno, dunno. Maybe he's tryin' to show the darn thing that this life ain't all pleasure."

A deaf lady had just entered the church with an ear trumpet. Soon after she had seated herself an usher tip-toed over and whispered, "One toot, and out you go."

Warden: "What made you beat up your cell mate the way that you did?"

Convict: "Aw, dat guy gits wise wit me."

Warden: "What's he done to you now?"

Convict: "Tore the leaf off' n de calendar and it was my turn."

Preacher (to Mormon groom): "Do you take these women to be your lawfully wedded wives?"

Groom: "I do."

Preacher: "Do you take this man to be your lawfully wedded husband?"

Brides: "We do."

Preacher: "Some of you girls in the rear speak louder if you want to be included in this."

ACT I

Scene: Divil's
Private Office

The peaceful quietness is suddenly broken by a loud knock.

Divil: "Come in." (Young man staggers in with fruit jar in hand.) "And who is this to whom I owe thanks for this visit?"

Y. M.: "I shay old chap—I shay old chap—Hic—I shay—hic—"

Divil: "Oh, a W. & L. man, surely I can receive you. Pass on."

ACT II

Scene: Same as Act I, including knock

Divil: "Come in." (Young man enters with shoulders hunched forward and chin out and up.) "And who is this that comes to see me now?"

Y. M.: "Am awfully sorry old man but we have not been introduced so please refrain from speaking to me."

Divil: "Oh, a University of Virginia man. Pitchfork first door to the left."

ACT III

Scene and Knocks as Usual

Divil: "Come in." (Young man steps in, snaps to attention and salutes): "V. M. I. cadet reports as requested, Sir."

Divil: "Well I'll be darned—a V. M. I. keydet. Napoleon is holding drill down on the Brinestone field. Report at once."

ACT IV

Scene: Same as previous acts, except that the knocking is unusually loud

Divil: "Come in." (Young man enters with an armful of dynamite.) "Who are you, my good fellow?"

Y. M.: "Who in the hell wants to know?"

Divil: "Go back where you came from, we don't need any V. P. I. men down here. I can raise enough hell by myself."

[481]
Flash lights, swirling figures, syncopated rhythm— She looked up into his eyes as he held her close—

"So you really have Prof. N—— for Calculus?"

"I do," was the reply, "and of all the mentally-gripped flat tires, he is the original flat man."

"Do you know who I am?" she spluttered.

"No," he cooed, "tell me or I shall guess."

"I, sir, am Mary N——, the Professor's only daughter."

"Do you know who I am?"

"No, but—"

"Thank, Gawd!"

Fresh: "Say, hold this book a minute."

Prexy: "I'll have you to know that I'm President of this school."

Fresh: "Oh, that's all right, you look honest. Gimme a match."

"—Have some peanuts?"

"—Yes."

"—Wanna neck?"

"—No."

"—Gimme my peanuts back then."

First Mother: "You know I have the time of my life keeping dirt out of my children's ears."

2nd Mother: "It's just the same with me. My husband doesn't seem to care what he says in front of the children."

"Guess what, dad, a lady at the book store tried to sell me some fairy tales today."

"Well that's nice, what did you do?"

"I just laughed and laughed because I knew durn well that fairies don't have tails."
Inspecting Officer: "And may I be so rude as to ask the reason for such untimely sleeping?"
The One in Bed: "Merely waiting for a street car, Sir."

HOW TO PLAY BRIDGE

We shall not mention that due to many earnest inquiries and requests we have consented to publish this entertaining and instructive lesson on the great American college game. We were not asked. But having seen the play of certain Freshmen, as well as that of older members of the school, we decided that such a course is imperative to the welfare of those unfortunates. In order to forestall the many threats of torture and death, which have been made to some of our dearest friends, we hereby dedicate this lesson to the purpose of making this institution safe for amateur bridge players. The information contained herein is freely given, but like other contributors to the good of society, we withhold our names (but for different reasons). In the beginning it has been safe to assume that the reader knows absolutely nothing about the game. We shall start with the rudiments, and by fifteen minutes a day, you will soon be able to take your place in a bridge game with justifiable confidence.

Bridge (pronounced bridj) is a very old game, and to play, at least one pack of cards, containing not more than fifty-five cards, should be on hand. In "high class" games two decks are used, one being scraped off, mended, and regreened while the other is in play. Before using a new deck, one should see that it is properly "broken in." This is best accomplished by descending to the cellar and scattering the cards promiscuously over the coal pile. *(Note: If an oil heater is used, generous quantities of fuel oil sprinkled on the floor will answer to the same purpose.) The referee then blows his whistle and each player tries to secure as many cards as he can. At the end of three minutes time may be called and each player hands his booty to the umpire. The one who has the least number of cards may be asked to deal. But first the cards must be carefully washed (note: do not use Lux) to remove the coal dust or oil and while damp rub carefully with powdered rosin. This prevents their Judge: "You say that she whistled to him, then turned and walked up the alley? What followed?"
Witness: "He did, Your Honor."

Sunday School Teacher: "And now dear children, why did Noah take two of each kind of animal into the ark?"
Bright Child: "Because he didn't believe the story about the stork."
Moral: If you are caught in hot water be nonchalant and take a bath.

"Got any bites?"
"Nope, I don't think that my worm is even half trying."

The dainty little Frosh girl tripped her way on to the street car and clung for dear life to her little brothers hand. "Will 'pre cents be enough?" lisped languishing Lily. "Half fare for kids in short pants," quoth the servant of the public. "Oh, now I know why you never have to pay anything for yourself," thrilled out little brother.

"I want to speak to my husband," yelled the murderer's wife, frantically phoning the penitentiary. "Sorry," replied the polite warden, "your party just hung up."

Two little urchins were watching a barber singe his customer's hair. "Gee," said one, "He's hunting 'em with a light."

He: "Oh, look, the ball is dead."
She: "Well, why don't they pump it up?"

SHOVEL SHOVEL Co., Little Ray of Sunshine,
New York City, Blacksburg, Virginia.
Gentlemen: April 10, 1929.

Your letter of April 6th arrived today and I make haste to answer and tell you that I shall be glad to give you any testimonial concerning your shovels. I wish to express my gratitude as they have proved most beneficial in my college career. Speaking in engineering terms, I can say that its suction power is marvelous.

Last term, I was confronted with the most difficult of all my courses—that is Thermo.
This was my stumbling block and there was no way around it that I could see. I could hear the family jeers and their words of reproach.

However, one day, my chance came. The Professor announced his intention of being away for a few days and called for a volunteer to fire his furnace while he was away. The words were no sooner out of his mouth, than I had volunteered. However, the shovel that he furnished was atrocious and in an attempt to lighten my work, I procured one of your Model X shovels. It worked marvelously well.

Upon the professor's return, I made him a pres-cent of it. He was so pleased with the shovel that he not only passed me on the course but gave me a C. But of course the irony of fate entered into the case. The Dean of Engineering would change my grade to an E, because he thought I did not deserve more, and also he thought that if the other members of the Business Administration Department heard that I made a C on Thermo, they would all change to that course in order to make some quality credits. Needless to say this would be very misleading but that was not your fault, as it was through your wonderful shovel that I ever managed to get by on Thermo.

Sincerely, (Signed) Bill Pulliam.
THE IRONY OF FATE

or

THE TERRIBLE FATE OF

JOE COLLICH

It has not been our policy in the past to publish such heart-rending, and gruesome tales, but this terrible tragedy, which now darkens the halls of collegiate history, should be placed before all of us as a lesson.

What has proved to be the cruelest and most startling crime in the collegiate circles for years was committed by Andy Campus on the night of April the thirteenth last. Campus is a Junior attending Haverd, majoring in Applied Safe Cracking, and was contemplating advance work at the University of Sing-Sing. The victim of the atrocious deed was Joe Collich, his Freshman roommate. It seems that Campus, although a poor student, was Haverd’s greatest heartbreaker. On the other hand, young Collich excelled in studies, although his social accomplishments were below par—Listerine and Lifebuoy had helped him none in his conquest of the social world. He had spent hours on Hokum’s worthless little book, “Fifteen Minutes a Day,” and in spite of it all, he was what is commonly termed a “flop” or a “flat tire.” It seems that as a last resort, Collich appealed to his roommate, and Campus agreed to help him along the road to social success. For three months prior to the date of the murder, Campus had carefully coached his roommate in the gentle art of saying sweet nothings as though he meant them, and all that goes with the requirements of a true “Weak Moment.” At last, thinking his pupil ready for the test, Campus arranged a date for Collich with Miss Minnie Sorority. Last minute instructions were given and at eight o’clock on the evening of the murder, Collich started out to fill his date.

During the inquest, Andy did not appear at all conscious of having killed a man—meaning in this case a Freshman—partly because it was only a Freshman and partly because he felt innocent of having made any premeditated attempt at a man’s life. He signed the following confession with a smile on the broad expance of his handsome face: “While Collich dressed for the date I gave him his last minute instructions. After he had left, I had nothing else to do, so I started studying, and became so interested in Chapman’s ‘The Effect of Dynamite on Safe Doors’ that I did not notice the passing of time until Joe came in at half past two. I asked him how he had come out on his date and this is what he told me, ‘The family stayed downstairs with me and Minnie until twelve o’clock. As soon as they had gone upstairs to go to bed, Minnie got up and turned off the lights, and led me to the davenport, where we sat holding hands until two o’clock, when I left’”—At this point the murderer faltered, but after coaxing him he continued, “And then Joe remarked listlessly, ‘You know, Andy, I believe that I could have kissed Minnie, if I had tried to.’ That just ruined me, and I don’t remember anything that happened until someone told me that I had killed my roommate—poor Joe.”
Bold Weevil

Weevil Quap entered the General Science class five minutes late and promptly sank into a trance. Weevil was a Sophomore by courtesy.

"Weevil," inquired the Instructor, "how old is the moon?"

"How personal," musel Weevil, who was in love. Then he fully awakened and replied, "Well, it's nearly full so it must be at least two weeks old."

"I haven't read the text either," replied the instructor, "but," she added in a reflective mood, "I remember crying for it when I was a mere infant."

"No wonder the cheese is green," inkled Weevil.

A few moments later he was wandering unoccupied in the hall, and went out to watch the team practice bemoaning the fact that although he had been given a scholarship because of his athletic ability he could not take part having injured his finger with a horse-shoe nail in a scrimmage with the Fresh team. Little did Weevil suspect that the nail had been carefully planted by the handsome captain, who wished to win the affections of the beautiful co-ed, Mistabel.

It was Saturday afternoon and the crucial game with their ancient adversary was about to start. The stands were filled with young eager students, their eyes filled with excitement and awe. A long continued cry of "Quap—Quap—Quap—Quap—" droned, then rose, swelled, and soon became as the beating of a gigantic tom-tom, urged on and augmented by the mad paroxysm of the cheer leaders. The stands seemed to sway as the students bent in unison to the tune of the monotonous chant.

The teams lined up and a groan of dismay came from the stands as they saw Weevil seated quietly on the bench, his breath coming in great heaves and tears as big as butter-balls gliding gently down his cheeks, so great was his love for old Edgon. Then a sudden hush as the whistle blew, and a sharp short clank as the first shoe bit the dust. — A scant half an hour later old Edgon was dragging along at the small end of a twenty to three score. The cry of "Quap—Quap—Quap—Quap—" rose again from the stands, while the coach paced the sidelines in the agony of despair. Suddenly he wheeled about and facing the bench he roared, "Go on in Quap, we are going to lose anyway."

"Quap for Colds," shouted the referee, and the handsome captain slouched off the field, gritting his teeth. Weevil stepped up to the line, and seized his favorite horseshoe in his left hand, since his right had not yet healed, and turned for a minute to the stands. There sat the beautiful Mistabel in an aureate glow. He paused for a moment, fondling the shoe in his unaccustomed hand, and then threw. A cheer arose—it was a ringer!

A few minutes later as dusk was descending on the field Weevil threw his sixth consecutive ringer, and Old Edgon had won! Weevil was borne off the field on the shoulders of his teammates, to the spot where the newly won Mistabel waited.

"Weevil," she exclaimed, looking at him through her deep blue eyes, "Do you believe in free love?"

"Well," said Weevil, "Ya don't need to fetch me no saucer, I drinks my coffee hot."
The great night had arrived, and the Horseshoe dance was in full progress. Everywhere pretty girls swayed in their partner's arms like the pulse-beat of the drum. And there were Weevil and Mistabel, oblivious of the crowd.

"Let's sit out the next dance and watch the moon rise," sighed Mistabel close to his ear.

Weevil hesitated, and at length he replied, "When I was little I couldn't spit over my chin, now I can spit all over it, so I guess it'll be all right."

"My hero," she breathed.

A few moments later they stood, watching the autumn moon, a great copper disc, float lazily into view above the trees that sighed softly, whispering, whispering of love.

"Weevil," said Mistabel dreamily, "how did you do it? There was never another that could cast a shoe as can my hero."

"It was nothing. My father was a blacksmith," he murmured, and then in a lower voice he added, "and you, Mistabel, were my inspiration."

He reached for her hand—but Mistabel was gone, she had been carried off by a wealthy millionaire.
Shipbuilding is an industry in which Virginia has become recognized the world over. Accomplishments in this field have been a great advertisement for Virginia. The past year has witnessed the launching of the two largest vessels ever built in America. They were launched in Virginia waters and built by a Virginia concern. The advertisers in THE BUGLE are showing their interest in the progress of the State and the advancement of P. F. I. As Virginia leads in shipbuilding so do these business firms lead in their fields. A CEDAR CHEST

for Weddings
Anniversaries

Graduations

But why not select a Certified Moth-killing Chest in design and wood to match your fine furniture?

What would a young girl sooner have than a beautiful fragrant cedar chest?

Then a cedar chest—for the convenient moth-proof storing of your downy blankets or your sweaters, fur-lined caps, gloves, golf bags—what would be more valuable to you?

But be sure you get a Lane. Because this is the chest that is certified. This is the chest made of extra thick red cedar—the choicest aromatic, red cedar heartwood, a full 3 4-inch thick, in accordance with the U.S. Government recommendation for a moth-killing cedar chest.

Every genuine Lane Chest may be identified as such by the Lane trade mark under the lid. No chest of lesser aromatic oil content can give full protection from moth danger—can pay for itself more surely in clothes saved from moth ruin.

Air tight, too and lastingly so—has warp proof lids, inseparably interlocked joints, dust and damp proof bottoms—has nine points of perfection all together found in no other chest.

No chest made is more beautiful in design and finish than the Lane. None is more desirable for lounging or storage purposes in home or dormitory.

Nearly all the better furniture or department stores carry these better chests. By all means see them. See the stunning new Lane models in walnut and mahogany veneers and other fine cabinet woods on the 3 4-inch red cedar panels. Period and plain designs—all sizes—all prices.

If you can't find the genuine Lane, write us. We will tell you how to get one. Also we'll send you an interesting new folder showing latest chest models and telling what few men and women know about clothes moths. Write for it now.

There are times when you'll wish you hadn't.
There are times when you'll wish you had,
But the times when you could've and didn't
Are the ones that'll make you sad.—Mink.

The ability to assist in making permanent such delightful bits of class spontaneity rests in an organization of creative artists guided by some 17 years of College Annual work, which experience is the knowledge of balance and taste and the fitness of doing things well. THE IMPRINT OF PRIDE

Printing is the great constructive force of the modern civilized world. It plays the indispensable part in the dissemination of news, in the expression and progression of political ideals, in the records and exchange of commerce and industry. It democratizes education, science, art, music — and broadens the scope of everything it touches. To appreciate its high place in the esteem of an enlightened world, printing must be well done. Our offering to the cause of Better Printing is REPRESENTED IN THIS ANNUAL

Acknowledgments

It would have been impossible to have followed in the wake of The Historical Bugle, The Bugle of Vision and The Bugle of Leadership with The Bugle of Opportunity without the help and aid given the board from outside sources. Building an annual requires imagination, cooperation and research. The Board of Editors and Managers fortunately secured all three from the firms connected with the manufacture of The 1920 Bugle and from the chambers of commerce throughout the state.

It is with these favors, so unselfishly rendered, vividly pictured in our minds that we gratefully acknowledge the obligations we are under to our benefactors.

The Board further wishes to express its sincere appreciation

To Mr. A. C. Ford for his creative art work and helpful suggestions, and to the entire staff of the J. P. Bell Company.

To Mr. A. A. Segal and J. J. Sher of the Bureau of Engraving, Inc.

To Mr. Arthur Leonardt and George Ebenheck of White Studio for the very effective photographic work.

To Mr. A. A. Lubersky and the S. K. Smith Company, makers of the striking cover which binds this volume.

To the Virginia State Chamber of Commerce, the Norfolk-Portsmouth Chamber of Commerce, the Roanoke Chamber of Commerce, the Winchester Chamber of Commerce, the Lynchburg Chamber of Commerce, the Danville Chamber of Commerce, the Suffolk Chamber of Commerce, the Appalachian Electric Power Co., the Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Co., and the Southwestern Virginia, Inc., for the pictures and data used.

And to our many advertisers whose patronage made the publication of this volume possible.
