Because of the wealth of sophomore material and with a good looking freshman squad, Moseley looks ahead to a "real good year" in 1959 and an "outstanding team in 1960."

In Zeno, Tech has the makings of one of its better guards. "He's the best prospect we've had here," says Moseley. Zeno stands out in a group of five sophomores that include O'Brien, Blovie Davison, 203; Bob Eller, 215; Harold Jones, 220; Leo Howard, 217, and Lorenzo Griffith, 250. Zeno, O'Brien, Eller and Davison, the latter two now running on the second unit, are outstanding. When Griffith sheds about 15 or 20 pounds, he will move up. There is not a letterman among the guards. The youngsters have size and speed.

UNUSUAL PROMISE
Tackle also offers unusual promise. Oakes played some as a freshman. Berni Vishneski, 226, is now just a step behind the able Burks. Vishneski and Joe Moss, 217, both sophomores, are on the second unit. Moss started behind letterman Ed Bartrug, 193, but moved ahead of him. Bartrug and Bill McGinnis, 210, both juniors, are now on the third unit.

A junior, Chuck Stephens, 193, runs behind Mihales at center and a sophomore, Charlie Sibley, 207, is on the third unit. Best fortified position now is end. Dale and Byrd have experience and speed. Sophomores Jim Farr, 190, and Allen Whittier, 205, are better than average prospects and are on the second unit. A senior, Ed Brinkley, two-year letterman, and Richmond Walter Harris, 180, also of Hermitage, are on the third group. Another Richmond, Gil Turnage, 193, is an end candidate.

Development of the sophomores will tell the final story. Losing 14 lettermen from last fall hurt. Only Dale and Burks were regarded as regulars from the start last year.

The schedule:
Sept. 29, West Texas at Roanoke (night); 27, Wake Forest at Norfolk (night).
Oct. 6, William and Mary; 11, Virginia at Roanoke; 18, at Florida State; 25, West Virginia at Richmond (Tobacco Festival).
Nov. 1, at N. C. State; 8, Richmond; 15, at Mississippi Southern (night); 27, Virginia Military at Roanoke.