Virginia Tech Falls To North Carolina:

From Wire Dispatches

Four North Carolina pitchers held Virginia Tech to three hits Wednesday as the Tar Heels notched their 14th baseball victory defeating the Techmen, 1-0.

In other collegiate baseball action, Old Dominion swept a doubleheader from Xavier of Ohio, 2-1 and 4-1; VCU fell to the University of Maine, 6-2; and touring Southern Connecticut ripped Virginia Military Institute, 15-6.

North Carolina’s run off Tech righthander Jack Tatem came in the fifth and was unearned. With one out, Tom Gillis walked, went all the way to third when Tatem threw wild to first and scored on Pete Franklin’s sacrifice.
