Tech Problems Mount; Recruits, Wins Needed

With three games remaining in a most disappointing 2-4 season, Bobby Ross, Tech's football coach, said the school

The Hokies desperately need to finish with some victories, but even more than that, they need a banner recruiting year.

In spite of a current 1-7 record, achieving the first will certainly be easier than the second. The Hokies have never won a banner recruiting year.

The Hokies have also had two consecutive disappointing seasons, but they still have the support of their fans. The fans will be the key to recruiting success.

The Hokies must focus on recruiting, as it is the key to future success. Recruiting is crucial for any football program to achieve sustained success.

Defensive Woes Inadequate

Tech's defensive woes continue to mount, but the team is not giving up. Coach Ross is determined to turn things around by the end of the season.

The Hokies' defense has been inconsistent, but they have shown improvement in recent games. The team is working hard to improve their defensive play.

The Hokies' defensive line is a major concern, but the team is working on improving it. The team is confident that they can turn things around with hard work.

Traditionally, Tech's defense has been strong, but this year's team is struggling. The team is working hard to improve their defensive play.

Recruiting More Competitive

Tech's recruiting efforts have been stepped up, with the team focusing on recruiting local talent. Tech is doing well to improve their recruiting efforts.

The team is working hard to attract top talent, and they are doing well to improve their recruiting efforts. The team is focused on attracting top talent.

The 1973 schedule is set to begin. The first three games are against Kentucky, Maryland, and