Now they know.

Allan Bristow summed it all up.
Now they know what a Hokie is: a winner.
And Allan, along with Craig Lieder, Bobby Stevens and all the other members of the Tech basketball team proved that to the nation.
Don DeVoe and his staff have brought the Tech basketball program a long way in the past two years. All the way from an unheralded, unheard of team from Blacksburg, to champs of the NIT.

And now that all of us at the bank have our breath back from that final play, we’d like to say congratulations.
It was a terrific accomplishment.
And a great season!
