Roanoke's Robinson gets spot on all-state team

RICHMOND (AP)—Senior Fletcher Johnson of Randolph-Macon and junior Wally Walker of Virginia were named today for the third straight year to the All-State college basketball team of The Associated Press.

The 10-man team, picked by the state's college coaches, consists of five University Division and five College Division players. There are just four seniors on the squad with five juniors and one sophomore, guard Ronnie Satterthwaite of William and Mary.

National scoring leader Bob McCurdy of Richmond, Russell Davis of Virginia Tech and Keith Highsmith of Virginia Commonwealth were the University Division players chosen with Walker and Satterthwaite.

College Division performers selected besides Johnson were Ross Robinson of Roanoke, Eugene Cunningham of Norfolk State, Donnie Roberts of St. Paul's and Oliver Purnell of Old Dominion's NCAA Division II national champion Monarchs.

Johnson, McCurdy, Robinson and Purnell are the only seniors.

Five of the 10 averaged better than 20 points per game with McCurdy the leader with 355 points in 26 games for a 32.8-point average.

Roberts scored 670 points in 25 games for a 26.8 average. Johnson had 746 points in 30 games for a 24.9 average. Robinson had 592 points in 27 games for a 21.9 average and Cunningham averaged 21 points even on 588 points in 28 games.

Four other players were in double figures with only Highsmith, the VCU playmaker and smallest member of the team at 5-9, not in that group. Highsmith averaged 9.7 on 243 points in 25 games.

Davis led Virginia Tech with an 18.8 average on 490 points in 26 games, Satterthwaite averaged 16.9 on 474 points in 28 games, Walker had a 16.5 average on 413 points in 25 games and Purnell had a 14.4 mark on 446 points in 31 games.
