Tech Sweeps West Virginia

From Wire Dispatches
Paul Adams hit a two-run homer in the first game, and pitcher David Halstead drove in three runs with a single in the second as Virginia Tech defeated West Virginia, 2-0 and 11-4, in a doubleheader yesterday in Blacksburg.

The second game was called after 4½ innings because of rain.

Adams got his ninth home run of the year in the first inning of the first game.

In the second contest, Tech got 10 runs in the first two innings. Halstead drove in three runs with the bases loaded when he hit a single, giving Tech a 10-2 lead at the end of the second.

West Virginia managed two runs in the third inning, and Tech scored again in the fourth, before the game was halted by rain.

First Game
W. Virginia ........ 000 000 0—0 3 0
Va. Tech ............. 200 000 x—2 7 2
Keeler and Beatty, Gilbert (5); Arrington and Shelton. W—Arrington (7-2). L—Keeler (1-4). HR—Adams, Tech, (1), one on.

Second Game
W. Virginia ........ 022 000—4 6 4
Va. Tech ............. 460 1x—11 10 0
Henderson, Gray (2) and Beatty. Halstead and Shieves. W—Halstead (4-2). L—Henderson (1-1).