Tech Wrecks Indians

Just when Virginia Tech hitting looked about as potent as a midget wrestler, the Hokies banged off 14 hits to pin William & Mary 15-5 Sunday afternoon in Tech Park.

Catcher Wayne Shelton blasted homers in the first, fourth and sixth innings off two Indian pitchers. Shelton's solo shot in the opening frame opened a Tech attack which produced eight runs in two innings knocking out William & Mary starter Ken Smith.

Shelton powered in four runs in Tech's strongest offensive output of the season. Third baseman Rick Wade drilled in four more runs and outfielder Tony Metts collected two singles and a double as the Hokies raised their record to 3-6.

Tech starter Duke Dickerson went eight innings and allowed all five Indian runs as he evened his record at 1-1.
