LEWIS ON THE RUN—Freshman running back Kersey Lewis of Danville (left) is off and running for another gain, pursued by another freshman, Jerome Rainell of the White team. Maroon Humphrey White, 24-10 in Virginia Tech's spring game.

GOAL LINE STAND—Maroon defense digs in to stop a White drive near the goal line on third down. At right is defensive back Eddie Snel., while Snel is on a field goal on the next play.

CONVOY—Sophomore Tom Webb of Portsmouth (right) runs interference for tailback Mickey Rogers as a White team defender (partially obscured) approaches from the other side. Rogers gained 70 yards rushing and 56 receiving yards, including one for a touchdown.

Offense Has Plenty Of Go In Hokie Spring Football

By Bill Moore, Sports Editor

BLACKSBURG—Forty-eight points and 13 passes completed out of 17 (65.3 percent) were the main factors in Virginia Tech's 48-7 victory over the Maroons in the annual spring game.

The Hokies' explosive offense, led by quarterback Mickey Rogers, was flanked by the defensive stand of the Maroons, which was able to limit the Hokies to 200 total yards of offense.

The Maroons, who did not have a consistent pass defense, were unable to prevent Rogers from completing 13 of 17 passes for 171 yards and three touchdowns. Rogers also rushed for 101 yards and two touchdowns, leading the team in rushing.

Rogers, who has been the starting quarterback for the past two seasons, was backed up by backup quarterback Tom Webb, who completed 10 of 16 passes for 141 yards and a touchdown.

The Maroons, who were led by defensive back Eddie Snel, were unable to prevent Rogers from rushing for 70 yards and catching a touchdown pass from Webb.

Snel, who had 10 tackles and an interception, was a key player in the Maroons' defense, which limited the Hokies to 200 total yards of offense.

The Hokies' defense, led by linebacker Mike Teep, was able to limit the Maroons to 100 total yards of offense, including 61 yards rushing and 39 yards passing.

MANNY ON THE MOVE—Freshman quarterback Jeff Maney (13) keeps the ball and runs as White team defenders try to head him off.

(L4) Mike Teep and Gippy Belcher try to head him off.

(44) Mike Teep and Gippy Belcher try to head him off.

LAMIE RUNS IT—Running the ball on a keeper is quarterback David Lamke of the White team with a Maroon defender a step away.

Messenger Sports

WOOLSTOWN—Freshman running back David Lamke of the White team with a Maroon defender a step away.

Lamke, who had 108 yards rushing and 35 yards receiving, was limited to 24 yards rushing by the Maroons' defense.

The Maroons, who were led by defensive back Eddie Snel, were unable to prevent Lamke from rushing for 70 yards and catching a touchdown pass from Webb.

Snel, who had 10 tackles and an interception, was a key player in the Maroons' defense, which limited the Hokies to 200 total yards of offense.

The Hokies' defense, led by linebacker Mike Teep, was able to limit the Maroons to 100 total yards of offense, including 61 yards rushing and 39 yards passing.

The Hokies' offense was led by quarterback Mickey Rogers, who completed 13 of 17 passes for 171 yards and three touchdowns. Rogers also rushed for 101 yards and two touchdowns, leading the team in rushing.

Rogers, who has been the starting quarterback for the past two seasons, was backed up by backup quarterback Tom Webb, who completed 10 of 16 passes for 141 yards and a touchdown.

The Maroons, who were led by defensive back Eddie Snel, were unable to prevent Rogers from rushing for 70 yards and catching a touchdown pass from Webb.

Snel, who had 10 tackles and an interception, was a key player in the Maroons' defense, which limited the Hokies to 200 total yards of offense.

The Hokies' defense, led by linebacker Mike Teep, was able to limit the Maroons to 100 total yards of offense, including 61 yards rushing and 39 yards passing.

The Hokies' offense was led by quarterback Mickey Rogers, who completed 13 of 17 passes for 171 yards and three touchdowns. Rogers also rushed for 101 yards and two touchdowns, leading the team in rushing.

Rogers, who has been the starting quarterback for the past two seasons, was backed up by backup quarterback Tom Webb, who completed 10 of 16 passes for 141 yards and a touchdown.

The Maroons, who were led by defensive back Eddie Snel, were unable to prevent Rogers from rushing for 70 yards and catching a touchdown pass from Webb.

Snel, who had 10 tackles and an interception, was a key player in the Maroons' defense, which limited the Hokies to 200 total yards of offense.

The Hokies' defense, led by linebacker Mike Teep, was able to limit the Maroons to 100 total yards of offense, including 61 yards rushing and 39 yards passing. 