PAUL ADAMS ON TECH GRID TEAM Release at Will

BLACKSBURG.....Paul Adams, a former standout performer at Castlewood High School in four varsity sports, is a member of the 1974 Virginia Tech Football Squad.

A 1971 graduate of Castlewood, Adams won a total of 15 letters in football, basketball, baseball, and track. The 6'1", 215 pound native of Dante received both All-District and All-State honors in football while serving as a captain under Coach Vernea Auville.

Adams is expected to add both power and a degree of explosiveness to the new wishbone offense recently instituted by Head Coach Jimmy Sharpe.
As a member of the 1972 junior varsity backfield, he was the second leading rusher. However, in 1973 he wound up with a knee injury requiring surgery. Adams has proven his running ability in the past and his association with winners should prove to be invaluable as the Gobblers count on his leadership to get the new football program rolling.

The football outlook at Virginia Tech this fall is one of conservative optimism as Jimmy Sharpe has taken over the reins after eleven years as offensive coordinator at Alabama. The Hokies will open their fall slate of eleven games on September 14 with a home contest against the Kentucky Wildcats.
